"The Big Blue Blazer" is published each month by the Journalism Class and is printed at the Richlands Press, Richlands, Virginia. Several of the students do the actual work on the paper at the press.

The paper is financed by advertisements from local business concerns and subscriptions.

This year the newspaper was entered in the Southern Interscholastic Press Association for rating. Seven students from the class represented the paper at the Press Association at Lexington, Virginia.

Social activities of the class included panel discussions, Voice of Youth Radio Program, the crowning of "Miss Blue Blazer" for the year, and a picnic.

ANNUAL STAFF

FIRST ROW: Loretta Hill, Phyllis Blankenship-Editor and Secretary, Sue Addison-Business Manager.
SECOND ROW: Miss Hunter-Sponsor, Bonnis Smith, Eulis Patrick, J. W. Overbay, Clydette Patterson, Mrs. Smith-Sponsor.

In September it began - the process of taking pictures! The students became "camera conscious", as the boys were forced into white shirts, coats, and ties; girls into sweaters and accessories. Mr. Mosseller worked patiently, while the staff checked and rechecked long lines of students for correct dress.

Then came the long and tedious process of putting out the annual, proofreading copy, conferring with Mr. Fields, and meeting deadlines. A very common scene around the auditorium was Mr. Roisch trailed by Miss Hunter, Mrs. Smith, and the staff loaded with equipment in an attempt to give a complete pictorial record of Richlands High School.

Day after day the staff groped for new ideas - some lost in thought, searching for inspiration - others, (Clydette and J.W.) in the back of the room talking - Phyllis, Loretta or Sue typing - Bonnie designing pages - and Eulis reading a book. Finally, after working late at night and after school, ideas developed and inspirations came.

Some of the highlights for the staff were: a Christmas banquet at Wimpy's, a trip through the Kelly and Greene Plant at Bristol, and a course in photography while there; and most important of all, the yearly trip to Lexington where new methods in annual editing are studied.

Now that it is over, it is the sincere hope of the staff that this edition of "The Tornado" will be a record which you will cherish in later years.

Phyllis Blankenship-Editor and Secretary, Sue Addison-Business Manager.

FOOTBALL COACHES AND CAPTAINS

Captains: Danny Jennelle and Jack Booth

The Blue Tornado reported for practice on August 15, with only four lettermen left from the preceeding season, but with several good reserves available from the 1955-56 squad.

The all-important quarterback position was questionable with Dave Lawson, who had almost no game experience, the leading candidate; however, Dave proved that he could ably fill the position, developed into one of the best field generals in the school's history. Much of the success of the team can be credited to his fine leadership. This is meant in no way to detract from the fine team play of the whole squad, which was made up of a group of cooperative, hard-fighting, spirited boys.

The season's record of six wins and four losses compares favorably with records of other Tornado teams down through the years. This year's record was compiled against all the best teams in the newly formed Southwest District of group one schools, and three of the four losses were by a lone touchdown.

FEATURES

HOME

King Howard Vanover and Queen Ann Taylor

Homecoming in R.H.S., sponsored by the Student Council, was a huge success with many old grads returning to see the new building and renew old acquaintances.

Preliminaries for the big day began with the selections of candidates for king and queen and members of the court; then came the big day with a gigantic parade, followed by an exciting game between the Age Old Rivals, the Blue Tornadoes and the Tazwell Bulldogs, the only dark cloud on our horizon was the Tornado defeat by a lone touchdown.

King Howard and Queen Ann were regally crowned by Mr. Powers during the half time.

The judges awarded the first place to The Johnson's 5 and 10 Float.

The Diversified Occupational Class and White's Hardware tied for second place; and the third place went to the Class of '35.

A dance was held in the R.H.S. Cafeteria following the game.

On Sunday morning, July 8, fourteen boys and girls sponsored by the Senior Intermediate and Junior Woman's Clubs, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lion's, Chamber of Commerce and American Legion left Richlands for a week at Blacksburg to attend Boy's and Girl's State. These boys and girls were selected to represent Richlands High School because of their qualities in leadership and scholarship.

Mary White was elected delegate to the State Convention. Judy Echols was the town clerk of Tyler City; and Linda Stiltner was a majorette in the Band.

The week's activities came to a climax Friday Night with the Governor's Ball, which was held in the War Memorial Gymnasium. The Leanord Trio, better known as "Club 88" on Roanoke W.S.L.S. TV., played for the ball. An exhausted, but happy group of delegates returned home with many happy and pleasant memories.

The prospect for a successful season this year was rather doubtful in the mind of Coach Grindstaff as he organized the track team with no veterans. The Tornado's first engagement was at the Concord meet, where the team made a good showing. Other track meets in which the Tornado team participated, were the Bluefield Meet and the District meet at Emory and Henry where R.H.S. placed third.

April 25 found the delegates of The Tornado and The Big Blue Blazer in high spirits as they prepared to leave for Lexington, to attend the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association, held at Washington and Lee University.

Along with the other nine hundred and fifty journalists, the R.H.S. representatives attended classes, and heard outstanding speakers, including Mr. Joseph W. Musical, creator of the famous "Katzenjammer Kids".

On Friday night a dance was held in the beautifully decorated Dorimus Gymnasium for the S.I.P.A. delegates and the W. and L. students.

The highlight of the Convention was the Awards Luncheon, held in the Dorimus Gymnasium Saturday noon. At which time awards and prizes were presented. Among the distinguished guests, was Mr. Clifford Dowdy, author of many historical accounts about The War Between The States.

This year the Richlands group stayed in a motel at Buena Vista, located at the foot of the Blue Ridge Parkway. While there, the R.H.S. group picniced on the Parkway and took a "long to be remembered" mid-night ride!

During the three days, the Richlands delegates visited historic shrines, attended the "Drama of Creation" at Natural Bridge and visited former R.H.S. students now attending V.M.I.

At four A.M. April 29th, two Trailways buses, bearing large signs "Washington to be struck by Richlands Tornadoes," left Richlands with fifty-seven peppy Seniors and three chaperones, for a tour of Washington and Virginia.

The fun began as soon as the buses pulled away from the school building. The happy group sang and ate chicken all the way to Washington, in spite of several stops to eat, one being a picnic at Staunton.

At Luray the buses unloaded, for a visit through the famous Luray Caverns. Jerry Lawson tried to reverse the custom at the "Wishing Well" but was unsuccessful in his attempt.

After traveling all day the students arrived in Washington at five P.M. eastern standard time and found that Washington was on day-light saving time. There was a mad rush to eat and arrive at the Warner Theatre in time to see the cinerama "Seven Wonders of the World". Several of the seniors slept while others held tightly to their seats, as they viewed the "train trip down the mountain side".

At mid-night the group finally arrived at the Cairo Hotel for a brief stay - just long enough to locate another hotel. While there, Miss Huffman was the victim of a "water bath" - which came from the eighth floor. The indignant Richlands group surprised the hotel personnel by walking out bag and baggage. Fortunately the chaperones had located a hotel in Arlington with vacancies.

Several former R.H.S. students, having spotted the buses driving through the city, followed them to Arlington for a reunion with the seniors.

Finally in the early morning hours the group got to bed, that is all except Ann Robinson, who slept in the bath tub. According to Cecil, the theme was "put on your pajamas, get into bed; get up, take off your pajamas, and get dressed." Several card games came to an "untimely end" due to unexpected visits on the part of the chaperones.

At six A.M. the call came "get up and get dressed". After scrambling around - half asleep, everyone was ready - that is except the bus drivers. For the next hour there was much complaining and grumbling as the group sat in the lobby, waiting for the buses. Finally, the buses arrived and the tour of Washington began.

A tour was made to the Franciscan Monastery, the White House, the Washington Monument and the Smithsonian Institute. That night most of the group enjoyed swimming in the luxurious swimming pool of the Ambassador Hotel.

On Wednesday morning the call to get up came again at six A.M. After packing bags, looking for "lost keys", checking to see that no stray shoes, hats, etc., had been left behind, the group checked out of the Hotel Arlington and boarded the buses for a tour of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. Then to the Capitol where Congressman Pat Jennings met the group. Through the courtesy of Senator Robertson, the group visited the Senate Chamber where Senators Lyndon Johnson, John F. Kennedy, and Estes Kefauver were much in evidence. A few, who were not politically minded, went to sleep only to be aroused by the guides. Others got "lost" at the Capitol.

After lunch the tour continued to the Arlington Cemetery, to witness the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Being true Confederates - as their hats indicated - the group visited Lee's Mansion in Arlington. Here several couples chose to walk through the tulips, rather than view the interior of the mansion.

One of the high-lights of the entire week was the over-night trip down the Potomac, which began as the buses unloaded at the boat pier. The by now weary travelers boarded the steamer "District of Columbia". After a scurry to locate their cabins, the group went below to have their first meal on board. The meat served was - CHICKEN!

That night Seniors from New Jersey presented a talent show inviting the Richlands group to attend. A dance followed. Through no fault of their own, all were in bed by 11:30 (even Jimmy Bailey). The next morning, after having had breakfast (no chicken) they disembarked at Old Point Comfort. The ever faithful bus drivers were there to meet them.

The buses stopped at Hampton for a tour of the Mariner's Museum. To the delight of the government students, a model of the "Titanic" was found among the display of model ships.

The next stop was Colonial Williamsburg, where the enthusiastic Seniors stepped into the past and relived the Eighteenth Century as they visited the Governor's Palace, the Capitol, and many other historical places. At the conclusion of the Williamsburg tour, where they had learned to appreciate the difference in the "original" and the duplicate, several boys tested the stocks at the gaol. Jack Booth proceeded to demonstrate how he could escape - but after several attempts, was forced to give up.

After lunch (which was an unpleasant experience for the Seniors on one bus) the group visited the Jamestown Festival. Once again they relived history as they traveled through the James Fort and explored the thatch and clay houses. Here Ann Ringstaff "fell" for the soldiers who were portraying citizens of colonial Jamestown. Daisy became so enthralled with these early citizens that she ran into a post. This tour also proved most interesting for Joe and Keith as their guide was an attractive young lady.

The transition into the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries was so realistic, the group armed themselves with water guns and proceeded to relive the Revolutionary days in Virginia. After the chaperones had confiscated the weapons, peace reigned and the trip to Richmond was uneventful.

After checking into Hotel Jefferson, there was the usual rush to eat; but this time to reach the Holloway House before closing time. A kind doorman allowed the group to enter even though it was closing time.

That night the Seniors divided into small groups - some went bowling, others slept through the "Spirit of St. Louis" and still others enjoyed "Designing Lady".

Early the next morning everyone was on the bus ready to start on time, except Miss Huffman and Miss Hunter - the desk clerk had failed to call them. Two students from Richmond Professional Institute acted as guides for the tour of the city of Richmond. Here the group saw their State Capitol, St. John's Church, and the Confederate Museum.

The trip continued in the direction of Southwest Virginia. At Charlottesville the group stopped and ate lunch. The next stop was at "Monticello", the beautiful home of Thomas Jefferson, where the group enjoyed a tour of the house and gardens.

At five P.M. the buses arrived at Natural Bridge. There the group once again divided - some went swimming, others visited the bridge and still others shopped. The group ate their last meal together at Natural Bridge Cafeteria.

The buses arrived in Richlands at twelve-thirty A.M. The Seniors, tired but happy, declared it had been an experience of a life time!

CONGRATULATIONS

To The

GRADUATING CLASS

FULLY ACCREDITED

A good school specializing in many branches of professional business training.

You receive personal consideration of your interests or problems the moment you visit McLains. Guidance, Admissions and Placement are at your service. Small classes mean a more personalized education. A well-balanced program of study. Today, the expression "learning the business" is fast disappearing from the vocabulary of business men. Modern business hasn't time to vocationally start out its employees. The trained ones win!

Well organized social activities, and athletic program to better prepare for social and civic leadership. You train for a definite career goal. By studying only subjects directly related to the business field of your choice, requires shorter time with a resultant lower cost. It pays to prepare at McLains—just ask anyone who knows.
